INTRODUCTION

Introductory

This publication is prepared primarily for use in coding industry descriptions of individuals in the work force as recorded by householders on Census of Population Schedules. It is an alphabetical list of industry descriptions reported in earlier Censuses and surveys, with the appropriate industry code category shown opposite each entry. The code numbers have been taken from the Classification of Industries which is simply an arrangement of branches of productive activity, trade or service, (industry categories, for example, education, rail transport, etc.), in the Australian economy into groups and sub-groups. In the classification in use, there are 342 industry categories arranged into 53 sub-groups and 15 major groups. In a companion volume known as "Classification and Classified List of Industries" which contains the classification, entries in the alphabetical index have also been collected and arranged alphabetically under each industry category.

2. Economic Activity of Individuals as shown on Census Schedules

For Census purposes, the economic activity of persons in the work force is classified in three ways:—

- (a) Occupation, which describes what the person actually does, e.g., carpenter, clerk.
- (b) Occupational Status, the status of each person in his occupation, e.g., employer, worker on own account, working for wages, etc.
- (c) Industry, the branch of productive activity, trade or service in which the individual works or carries out his occupation, e.g., building and construction, bread baking.

It is most important to distinguish clearly the difference between the terms 'industry' and 'occupation'.

A single establishment may employ individuals performing completely different occupations in order to make a particular product or to render a particular service, but the industry classification of each of these individuals is determined by the nature of the product made or the service rendered by the establishment which employs him.

3. Basis of Assigning Individual Industry Descriptions to Industry Categories

Each person is assigned to an industry category on the basis of the description which he gives on his Census Schedule activity, which is a statement of the nature of the business of the establishment in which he works. The establishment is the individual factory, mine, farm, store, commercial office, etc. Establishments similar in nature are classified to the same industrial category whether operated by a government authority, company or individual.

Activities which are ancillary to the main business may be carried out by an establishment in which the person works either at the same site or elsewhere. For example, a garage operated by a department store for servicing its own vehicles or a foundry section attached to an agricultural machinery plant. The industry descriptions given by persons so engaged usually relate to the main business activity and are classified accordingly.

An establishment may be defined, generally, as a single physical location where industrial activities are performed. If, however, a single physical location comprises two or more distinct branches of productive activity for which different industry classifications are provided, especially where these fall in separate groups of the classification and are numerically important, then each branch is if practicable treated as a separate establishment. For example, a country railway centre, may have employees engaged on transport operations, maintenance and repair of locomotives and rolling stock (manufacturing) and permanent way maintenance (construction).

The required dissection can usually be made from the description of economic activity shown on the schedule. In other cases, where two branches of industrial activity are carried out at a single location, for example a clay pit combined with a brick works, the employees will usually describe their industry as brick making and as a result be classified to the final product.

Employees of an establishment operating as a single unit but producing more than one product or rendering more than one type of service usually describe their industry in accordance with the principal product produced or service rendered and are classified accordingly.

4. Questions about Industry on Census Schedules

In the 1966 Census Schedule two questions are asked which provide information about each individual's industry, viz.—

- (i) Question 23. Industry, Business or Service. State the exact branch of industry, business or service in which mainly engaged last week using two or more words where possible. For example, 'Dairy Farming', 'Coal Mining', 'Woollen Mills', 'Retail Grocery', 'Road Construction', etc. Employees should state the industry of their employer. For example, a carpenter employed by a coal mining company should state 'Coal Mining'. If employed by a Government Department or other public body, state also its name. For paid housekeepers and domestic servants in private households, write 'P.H.'.
- (ii) Question 24. Place of Work. State the full name of own or employer's business and the address of the place at which working last week. Show number, street and suburb or town. Employees of Government Departments or Authorities should show the name of the Department and the branch of the Department as well as the address of the place at which working.

5. Importance and Significance of Industry Coding

Industry Coding at a Census is recognized as a difficult but most important task, because it provides a national stocktaking at a point in time of the allocation of the work force over the various branches of economic activity. It provides benchmark data of great importance to statisticians, economists, businessmen and government administrators. It is therefore of the utmost importance that every effort be made to solve satisfactorily the problems which will inevitably arise in a coding undertaking as large as a national Census. Each item coded by you is finally aggregated with other items similarly coded to produce this statistical picture. Care and consistency of approach as well as speed of operation are important.

Users of the statistics produced from this index need to study the structure of the Classification of Industries to appreciate characteristics which are usually inherent in any statistical classification of this type and which may not be apparent without close inspection.

6. Construction of the Index

As mentioned above, the index is simply a list of industry descriptions, usually consisting of two or more words, taken from previous Censuses and arranged in alphabetical order with appropriate industry code numbers shown, supplemented by lists of private employers and government departments. In reality the lists of private employers and government departments form part of the index to be used only as specified in the index or instructions on how to code.

A large proportion of the entries appearing in the index are cross-referenced in an effort to cover all possible word combinations which may appear on Census Schedules.

7. Special Terminology in the Index

- (a) "undefined".

Industry descriptions entered on Census Schedules are often not as precise as desired for coding purposes and provision has to be made to take care of this in the index.

As a result, there are over 250 entries in the index qualified by the word "undefined". Perhaps the reason for these entries can best be explained by the examples set out below—

On page 36 of the index, the following entry appears, "Brick making (undefined)", industry code 104. In accordance with the Classification of Industries the description "Brick making" without any further qualification could possibly be allocated to:—

Brick making, cement .. 101
 Brick making, clay .. 104
 Brick making, glass .. 105

In fact, the entry "Brick making (undefined)" is shown under Industry 104, Bricks, Tiles, Pottery and Other Clay Products. Please note that, in this example, all the industry categories covered fall within Manufacturing, Sub-group I—Manufacture Relating to Cement, Bricks, Glass and Stone.

On page 35 of the index there appears the entry—"Box making (undefined)", industry code 355. In accordance with the Classification of Industries, Box making (undefined) without additional information could possibly be allocated to one of the following categories—

Index Entry	Manufacturing Sub-group
	No	Title
Box making, metal (aluminium) 150	3	Founding, Engineering and Metal working
Box making, metal (other than aluminium) .. 143	3	Founding, Engineering and Metal working
Box making, metal (undefined) 143	3	Founding, Engineering and Metal working
Box making, wooden 355	9	Sawmilling and Manufacture of Wood Products (other than Furniture)
Box making, paper, cardboard and pasteboard 371	11	Paper and Paper Products, Printing Packaging, Bookbinding and Photography

You will observe that the alternative codes fall within three different manufacturing sub-groups, and, as a result, it is most important that care be taken in allocating a code to an "undefined" entry in the index. Every possible attempt has to be made to obtain evidence that will enable the description to be coded to another index entry. Details of the procedure to be followed in coding " (undefined) " entries in the index are given later in this introduction.

(b) n.e.i.—"not elsewhere included"

The expression is simply an abbreviation for "not elsewhere included". The term is used in this index to make provision for industry descriptions small in number, that may occur in coding work, but have not been specifically indexed. It is used about 15 times in the index and in almost every case in an "Other" category of the classification. For example on page 106 of the index there is an entry "Mining (n.e.i.)" Industry Code 089 which is "Other Mining" in the Mining Sub-group of the Classification. This entry has been inserted to cover specific descriptions of types of mining which may occur on Census Schedules, but are not listed in the index. As far as is known, all types of mining of any importance have been covered.

No industry description concerning mining is to be coded to the index entry "Mining (n.e.i.)", until it has been established that the description does not appear elsewhere in the index and, in particular does not appear under some other order of words.

(c) "so described"

This term is used in index construction so that only reported descriptions with precisely the same or synonymous wording may be coded to index entries so qualified. For example, industry category 021, "Wheat and Sheep Farming (so described)", is restricted entirely to persons who use this or completely synonymous terms to describe their activities on Census Schedules. The only entries which appear in the index for this category are as follows—

Sheep and Wheat Farming (so described)
 Wheat and Sheep Farming (so described)
 Wheat and Wool Growing (so described)
 Wool and Wheat Growing (so described).

There are about 30 of these entries in the index, and the term is used when it is apparent that it might otherwise be possible for coders to use the index entry to code persons to this category, when they should be coded elsewhere. For example, "Mixed Farming (so described)" is coded to industry category 020, Farming, Mixed and Undefined. However, a coder dealing with a person who gives his industry description as "Fruit Growing and Poultry Farming", in which the types of farming are mixed (Fruit Growing, industry category 032—Poultry Farming, industry category 052), may think that this entry should be coded to industry category 020, Farming, Mixed and Undefined, but this is not so as the only mixed farming entries to go to this category, other than general terms such as Primary Producer etc., are Mixed Farming (so described) and Farming and Grazing (so described). The entry "Fruit Growing and Poultry Farming" is not specifically indexed and therefore is to be coded to industry category 032 in accordance with the following rule.

Where the reply shown on the Schedule consists of more than one industry description, the coder must first see whether the combination appears in the index and, if so, code to the number indicated; but where the combination is not indexed, code to the industry description appearing first in the reply.

(d) "no industry stated"

Often a person when giving his description of economic activity on Census Schedules merely writes down an occupation. Generally an occupation description as such cannot be taken as a guide to industry, because a motor mechanic, carpenter or labourer may be employed in any one of a number of different industries. However, experience has shown that often where occupation descriptions appear alone on Census Schedules, the occupation reported is restricted to one industry category or sub-group.

e.g., Wheat Farmer	..	030	Wheat Growing
Cane Cutter	..	031	Sugar Growing
Shearer (rural)	..	041	Services incidental to Grazing
Pig Farmer	..	051	Pig Farming
Brewery Worker	..	332	Brewing
Postmaster	..	570	Post, Telegraph and Telephone Services

There are 150 of these entries in the index.

(e) Additional Qualifications to Index Entries

In addition to those examples mentioned above a number of entries appear in the index, usually in brackets, following the actual index entry. In most cases they provide qualifying information which gives the index entry more precision.

(i) "Other" entry

The following example illustrates the point

319 Biscuit making, dog

283 Biscuit making (other than dog biscuits)

The entry (other than dog biscuits), makes it clear that all types of biscuit making other than "dog biscuits" are to be coded to 283.

(ii) Dealing

Special attention has been given in the index to the line of demarcation between "wholesale" and "retail" trade, for example;

Cordial dealing (retail), Industry Code 639

Cordial dealing (wholesale), Industry Code 611

However, not all entries in the Commerce Group, which covers Wholesale Trade, Livestock and Primary Produce Dealing, etc., and Retail Trade, are so qualified, because a number of industry descriptions automatically decide to which category the entry is to be allocated. For example, Frock shop; industry code 631, Drapery, Clothing and Footwear Dealing.

Coding problems arise when industry descriptions are not precise or in sufficient detail. There are 13 entries in industry category 619, Wholesale Trade, Other, qualified by the entry "(type of dealing not stated)" and 11 entries in category 649, Retail Trade, Other. If there is any indication on the Schedule of the type of dealing, the coder should look to that type of dealing in the index and code to the number indicated. If the type of dealing is not indicated, code to the number opposite the entry qualified by "type of dealing not stated". For example, if the reported industry description is "Tea Merchant" code to "611 Tea Dealing (wholesale)" but, if the only information available is the description "Merchant" code to "619, Merchant (type of dealing not stated)".

Where there is no evidence on the Schedule to indicate whether the person is engaged in retail or wholesale dealing, the person is to be coded to the appropriate type of retail dealing. If there is no evidence to the contrary, warehouses are to be regarded as wholesale dealing.

(iii) Other types of qualifications

These are generally entries in brackets inserted to assist the coder to allocate the entry with precision to its correct industry category. For example—

Building, insulating material making (bitumen treated)

Irrigation works (Construction and Maintenance)

Hydro-electric power works (production, supply and maintenance)

Sponge making (cakes)

Hospital, General (Staff only)

(f) Interchangeable Terms

The following terms are to be regarded as interchangeable:

(i) Making

"Making" with "factory", "manufacture", "manufacturing", "mill", "plant", "processing", "refinery", "refining", "works".

- (ii) How to treat maintenance and repairs is a problem in the construction of any Classification of Industries.

For the purposes of this index industry descriptions which contain the following terms:

"Maintenance" .. "Mending" "Reconditioning" .. "Renovating" "Repairing" "Repairs and Servicing"	are generally regarded as interchangeable with	"building", "con- struction" or "making", which- ever is applicable, unless specifically indicated otherwise in the index.

For example, the following terms are interchangeable:

- "Road maintenance" with "Road construction"
- "Dress renovating" with "Dressmaking"
- "House renovating" with "House building"
- "Typewriter repairer" with "Typewriter making"
- "Bridge repairing" with "Bridge building"

But "Boot repairing" is not interchangeable with "Bootmaking" 250, since it is specifically indexed to Code 251.

It follows therefore that a person who gives his industry description as "repairing" will be allocated to the appropriate manufacturing code. However, it should be kept in mind that a person can be engaged in repair work (occupation), but give an industry description other than manufacturing. The following schedule illustrates the point:

Repairs to:	If Industry Description is given as "Repairing" code as follows	Engaged on Repair Work
		Industry Description	Code
Motor Vehicles	204 Motor Engineering	Motor Garage	643 Motor Vehicles and Accessories dealing
Radio and T.V.	196 Radio, T.V. and Electric Apparatus, Electrical Machinery, Cables and Apparatus (N.E.I.)	Radio, T.V. Equipment Dealing	632 Crockery, Hardware and Electrical Appliances Dealing
Watches and Clocks	410 Jewellery, Watch-making (including Repairing)	Jewellery Dealing (retail)	649 Retail Trade, Other (watch dealing retail)
Typewriters ..	179 Typewriters Making, Maintenance	Office Machines Dealing	619 Wholesale Trade, Other
Lawn Mowers	170 Agricultural and Earthmoving Machines (including Tractors)	Hardware Dealing, Retail	632 Crockery, Hardware and Electrical Appliances Dealing

- (iii) "Farming" with "farm", "grazing", "growing", "orchard", "plantation", "planting", "producer", "producing", "property", "raising".
- (iv) "Production" may be interchangeable with either "farming" or "making".
- (v) "Dealing" with "dealer", "distributor", "exporting", "importing", "merchant", "retailer", "retailing", "selling", "shop", "store", "trader", "trading", "warehouse", "wholesaling".

8. Special Coding Problems

Experience in Census taking reveals special areas in industry coding and special action is taken in the index to cover these.

(a) Government Departments and Authorities

Persons employed by Government Departments and Authorities cause considerable bother by not giving a precise industry description on Census Schedules. Often an occupation is reported together with the name of the Department and Place of Work. These Departments and Authorities are often engaged in more than one industrial activity and it is important that the Schedules be coded in accordance with the requirements of the Classification. When a dissection is required this is shown in the lists of Government Departments and Authorities. Evidence appearing anywhere on the Schedule is to be used, for example, place of work, type of dwelling, etc. However, in most cases, it will be necessary to use the reported occupation.

A number of Government Departments and Authorities, with the required dissection shown, are included in the index: Railways, Tramways, Soil Conservation Service, Sydney Harbour Bridge, Soldier Settlement, with the footnote that they are also shown in the list of Government Departments. The corresponding industry dissection is to be achieved by using occupation and place of work.

References also appear in the index which refer the coder to the list of Government Departments, etc., in respect of:

- Board (not included in the index)
- Board of Works
- Branch of Government Department
- Commission (Government or Semi-government not included in the index)
- County Council (not included in the index)
- Department, Government

A number of references to other Government Departments and Authorities also appear in the index.

(b) Local Government and Religious Institutions

Employees in these fields engage in a wide variety of activities and some attempt is made to split them into their appropriate industrial classification; e.g., religion, education, social work, hospitals, administration, building and construction, parks and gardens, transport, electricity and gas production, etc. Entries appear in the index under Local Government Authority and Religious Institutions with the footnote that appropriate industry codes are to be allotted on the basis of occupation or other evidence on the Schedule.

No reference is to be made to the list of employers.

(c) Other problem areas

The following is a list of broad industry descriptions which often appear on Census Schedules, but which in practice cover a number of different industry categories:

Civil Aviation (not Department)
Blind Institute
Liquor Trade⁹
Mining Industry
Oil Industry
Shipping Industry
Toll Bridge Operating Company
Timber Industry (undefined)
Wine Industry
Wine Making
Wool Industry

These entries have been printed in the index with the footnote, "Included to show industry dissection required if above term is used". If necessary consult in order, occupation, place of work and index of employers.

The following example illustrates the point for the "Shipping Industry". Coders are required to dissect "Shipping Industry" as follows:

200 Shipbuilding, repairing
500 Loading and discharging of vessels
531 All other

Persons failing to report the branch of the shipping industry in which they are engaged can often be allocated to the required industry code on the following basis, with the proviso that the action taken does not clash with other information on the Schedule:

- (i) Persons reporting occupations usually performed in shipbuilding (e.g., "riveter", "welder" etc.) are to be coded to 200 (Shipbuilding, repairing).
- (ii) Persons reporting occupations usually performed in loading or discharging vessels (e.g., "wharf labourer", "waterside worker" etc.) are to be coded 540 (Loading and Discharging Vessels).
- (iii) Persons reporting occupations that cannot confidently be assigned to either (i) or (ii) are to be coded 531 (Coastal and Overseas Shipping).

Normal shipping occupations (such as "Seaman") are to be coded 531 as well as occupations such as "clerk" etc. which are common to all branches and, therefore cannot be allocated to any one branch.

9. Special Comment on use of lists of Private Employers, Government Departments

For this Census (1966) detailed lists of private employers, including Religious Institutions, Government Departments, Commonwealth, State, Semi and Local Government Authorities by establishment locations, coded by industry are available from the Census of Group Employers (1965), where necessary, for reference purposes by "as stated" coders.

For private employers these reference lists are considerably wider in coverage and in more detail than past Censuses, that is, employers with a small number of employees (e.g., 10 employees) are included and the information is generally available by physical locations, appropriately coded to industry. The same is true to a lesser extent for Commonwealth, State and Semi-governmental authorities, because in the past, the coverage has always been complete, but on this occasion a more detailed break down by industry based on establishment location will be shown. No reference lists in index form were available for local Government Authorities or Religious Institutions at past Censuses, and in order to maintain comparability should not be consulted by "as stated" coders.

A more detailed question concerning "Place of Work" on the 1966 Census Schedule which should enable a precise reference to the index of employers when necessary, reads as follows—"State the full name of own or employer's business and the address of the place at which working last week. Show number, street and suburb or town. Employees of Government Departments or Authorities should show the name of the Department and the branch of the Department as well as the address of the place at which working".

For "as stated" coding the list of Group Employers (Private and Government) is to be consulted only on the following occasions, when,

- (i) referred by the index e.g., "undefined" entries and Government department.
- (ii) otherwise unable to code from information on the Schedule.

It is important that this procedure be followed conscientiously in order to maintain comparability with previous Censuses.

10. Instructions for Coding Industry on "As Stated" Basis

- (a) Before attempting to code any Census Schedules it is important that you obtain a basic idea of the structure of the Classification of Industries. A copy of the Classification of Industries will be made available to you during your period of training, and a copy held throughout the Census by your Section Leader; however, it is essential that it should not be used by you in the actual process of coding.
- (b) It is important that you have read and understood the preceding introductory pages.
- (c) Under no circumstances is a coder to make any additions or alterations to his index without specific instructions from the Group Leader.
- (d) Generally you will be able to code replies to Question 23, Industry, Business or Service, in accordance with entries in the index. However, in a number of cases special action will be required because of the nature of some industry descriptions or because certain information is omitted from the Schedule.
- (e) If, in using the index, the particular order of words reported on the Schedule does not appear in the index, look up all possible variations before assuming that the description is not included.
- (f) Where the reply shown on the Schedule consists of two or more industry descriptions the coder must first see whether the combination appears in the index and, if so code to the industry description appearing first in the reply. For example, the reported description "Woolgrowing and Wheat Carting" is not specifically indexed and must therefore be coded to "040 Wool Growing".

- (g) A canteen run by an industrial establishment for the use of its staff is ancillary to that establishment and is to be coded to the same industry as that assigned to the establishment. If there is no evidence that a canteen is ancillary to an industrial establishment code to "783 Restaurants and tea rooms".
- (h) In the process of coding you will learn to scan or summarize the information on the Schedule relevant to the coding of industry. Occupation and other information on the Schedule is often important in achieving a required industry dissection.
- (i) The following are the more important details on the Schedule relevant to industry coding:—

Question No.

Personal Particulars

- 3. Economic activity, on 1961 Census basis
 - (a) persons not engaged in an industry, etc., on 1961 Census basis
 - (b) persons out of a job at time of Census
 - (c) persons engaged in an industry, etc.
- 4. Sex
- 5. Age
- 16–19. For persons 15 years and over, to determine whether they are in or out of the work force and, if in the work force, whether employed or unemployed
- 20–24. Details of Job, Business or Profession.
 - 20. Usual Hours Worked
 - 21. Occupational Status
 - 22. Occupation
 - 23. Industry, Business or Service
 - 24. Place of Work

Dwelling Particulars

- 1. Class of Dwelling

11. Determining Work Force

The following general comments are made about questions asked on the Census Schedule to determine whether a person is in or out of the work force.

Question 3 is the only question on the Schedule dealing with economic activity which covers all persons enumerated. Here for a special reason the population is classified into those,

3 (a) Not in the Work Force

3 (b) } In the Work Force

3 (c) }

on the basis of the 1961 Census wording i.e. those engaged in an industry, or out of a job at the time of the Census but who are usually engaged in an industry.

In questions 16–19, the population 15 years of age and over is classified into those:

(i) not in the work force

(ii) in the work force (a) Employed (b) Unemployed on the basis of having "a job or business of any kind last week (even though he may have been temporarily absent from it)".

The most common pattern of reply for a person in the work force is as follows:

Question				Reply
16.	Did the person have a job last week?	yes
17.	Did the person work last week?	yes
18.	Was the person temporarily laid off last week?	no
19.	Did the person look for work last week?	no

It is possible that a person over 15 years of age can be shown in the work force in question 3 and out of the work force on the basis of answers to questions 16–19 and vice versa. A set of supplementary instructions is provided to give you guidance in these circumstances, and also in those cases, where on the Schedules, replies have been omitted, or the information given appears inconsistent.

12. Procedure for Determining Industry

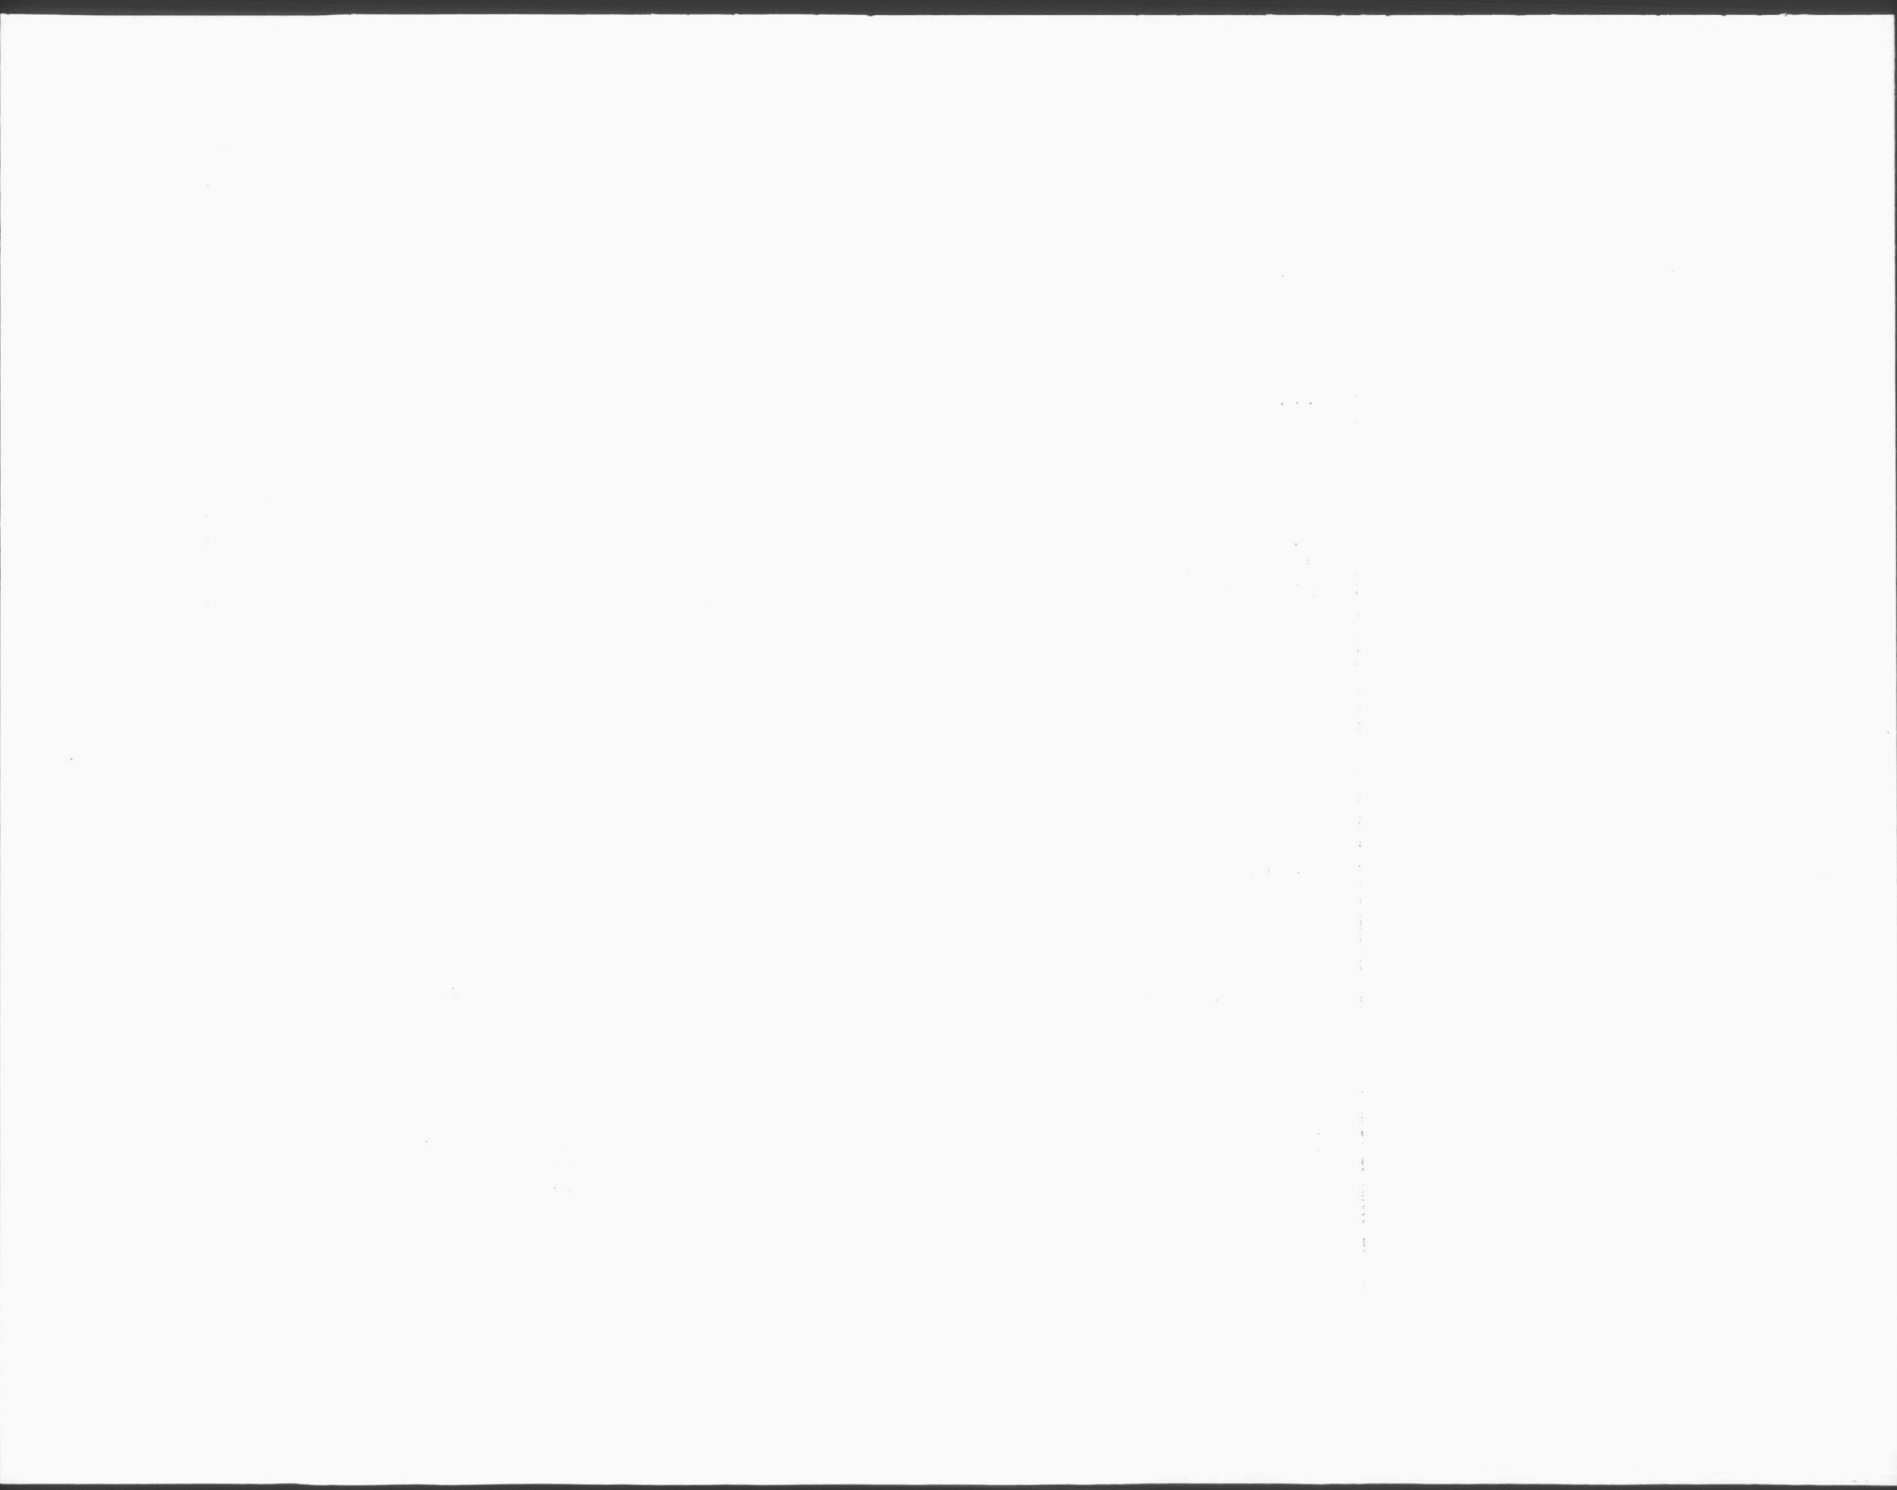

The following rules have been written on the assumption that there is no conflicting evidence on the Schedule:

- (a) If the reply to question 23, "Industry, Business or Service" appears in the index, code to the entry in the index. The index may refer you to the list of government departments.
- (b) If there is no reply to question 23, or the reply does not appear in the index, refer to question 24, "Place of Work" which may assist in defining industry by reason of its name or location. (Do not consult Index of Group Employers).
- (c) If still unable to determine the industry refer to question 21 and 22, Occupational Status and Occupation:
 - (i) Where the occupational status is returned as "O", determine the industry from the occupation stated. For example, if no reply is given to question 23 and 24 (industry and place of work) and the occupational status is recorded as "O" with occupation as "Plumber" the industry should be coded to plumbing.
 - (ii) Where the grade is "E" the industry may be determined in most instances as in (i) above.
If there is any doubt the coder should refer to his Section Leader. (N.B. This does not apply to Grade "W").
 - (iii) Where an occupation description only is reported and this entry appears in the index, code as indicated. The performance of certain occupations (for example, "school teacher" or "grazier") is restricted practically to one industry category or sub-group. These occupations are listed in the index qualified by "no industry stated".
 - (iv) Certain occupation descriptions are, in fact, joint industry—occupation descriptions, for example, "Bacon factory hand" "Retail store manager" from which the industry descriptions "Bacon curing" and "Retail store" can be assumed and coded accordingly.

- (d) If still unable to determine the industry, consult the list of Group Employers coded for industry by establishment locations and code in accordance with the industry code allocated to the location shown in "Place of Work". N.B. This action is to be taken only after eliminating all other possible sources of information on the Schedule.
- (e) "Undefined" index entries:
- (i) Where a reported industry description is qualified in the index by "undefined" and indicated by an asterisk, refer immediately to the list of Group Employers to locate "Place of Work" described in question 24. If the industry code in the list is in the same sub-group (see p. 17) as the code shown in the index, code as stated in the list.
 - (ii) If the industry code in the list is in a different sub-group refer to the Section Leader who will code and initial.
 - (iii) If the "Place of Work" is not shown on the list refer to the Section Leader who will code and initial.
- (f) Where a reported industry description is qualified in the index by "undefined" and is not indicated by an asterisk, refer immediately to the list of Group Employers to locate "Place of Work" described in question 24, and
- (i) if the industry code in the list is in the same sub-group (see table page 17) as the code shown in the index, code as stated in the list.
 - (ii) if the industry code in the list is in a different sub-group, refer to the Section Leader who will code and initial.
 - (iii) if the "Place of Work" is not shown in the list (e.g., farmers are mainly concerned) code to the number in the index without reference to the Section Leader.
- If after checking all available references, you are still unable to determine the industry, code to "810 Industry inadequately described or not stated". All 810 codes are to be referred to the Section Leader for initialling.
- (g) No reply
Where no reply is given to questions 22, 23 and 24 refer to your coding instructions.
- (h) Where a specific statement of industry is given in reply to question 23 and it does not appear in the index, coders are required to complete a query card and pass it to the Section Leader.
- (i) Inmates of Institutions
The coding of inmates of institutions often presents special problems and these are dealt with in the set of Supplementary Instructions.
